

Email message of March 8, 2017:

To all students in Corporate Tax:

As you may recall, our final exam in Corporate Tax is scheduled for the evening of Wednesday, April 26. Because of the disruption caused by the make-up days for weather-related class cancellations in January, the reading period has been shortened significantly, and I believe April 26 is now the first day of the revised exam period. For that reason, I have decided to make the following change to the exam schedule for Corporate Tax:

You may take the Corporate Tax exam by picking it up from the Registrar's Office (as one would an unscheduled exam) at any of the regularly scheduled pickup times on Wednesday April 26, Thursday April 27, Friday April 28, or Saturday April 29.

You should confirm with the Registrar what the available pickup times will be on those days. When last I checked, the only scheduled pickup time on Saturday is going to be 1:00 to 1:30 p.m.

Please let me know right away if this change in the exam schedule raises questions or concerns. Thanks.
